

Ashland Christian School Home Extension Program

Ashland Christian School seeks to align with the Christian home and the church in the education of children towards the pursuit of Christian truth. Prepared to live as citizens of the kingdom of God, they will go forth into the world and make disciples.

Training children to know and serve the Lord is rewarding and challenging. ACS recognizes the sacrifices Christian families often face in providing their children with a Biblically – based education. The ACS Home Extension Program was created to assist Christian families that choose to educate their children at home.

This program provides the opportunity for home-schooled children to participate in elective classes and special activities with the class of the child's corresponding grade and to enroll in a core subject area for grades 6-8. The program has a qualified coordinator and includes elective classes, core subject classes for grades 6-8, organized special activities, Middle School athletic team participation, use of the ACS library, and annual standardized testing.

The elective classes, core subjects, and organized special activities are listed below. The following pages describe the Home Extension Program policies and registration procedures. Please contact the school office if you have any questions, (419) 289-6617.
